Now for those winter sports here in Vermont! The stage is all set.

Those New Year's resolutions in the making will be later-year resolutions in the mending.

The "drunk" who was found reposing in a bin of soft coal at Brattleboro may have been exercising aquarier's rights.

There are 1,800,000,000,000 paper rubles in circulation in Russia. Which constitutes an almost unspeakable evil.

The many friends of Thomas C. Cheney of Morrisville, former speaker of the Vermont House of Representatives, will be pleased to learn that Mr. Cheney is improving after a serious illness.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Preble indulged in some plain talk to Brattleboro people about the fire hazards in their village. The talk may not be pleasing to listen to but it, no doubt, would be profitable to take heed to. Deputy Marshal Preble's task is by no means pleasant to him either, but he is trying to do his duty.

The few stray robins, as well as other birds, reported around Vermont this winter are going to have a hard time of it following the heavy snowfall unless their human and humane friends come to the rescue whenever possible. Hang out some suet or throw out crumbs now and then. Just to see the birds show their appreciation by consuming the food hungrily is enough compensation.

The hooded and gowned mob is several degrees lower than the lynching gang because the lynching gang comes out bare-faced and without other disguise to carry on its nefarious work while the hooded and gowned mob shows cowardice by concealment of identity. The hooded and gowned mob proclaim Americanism, yet real Americanism does not sink behind a disguise nor show cowardice.

HIRING HOME TALENT.

The St. Johnsbury Caledonian urges communities to engage local talent for entertainment rather than to go far away and hire somebody at big prices. It is probably true that many a community seeking entertainment could go further and fare worse than by getting the home folks to talk or sing to them. Local talent "shows," for instance, generally reveal some really good entertainers. Moreover, every out of town performance takes the major part of the proceeds out of town, while local talent performances, charging the public pocketbook less, turn the money back into local coffers quite largely. Thus the financial benefit to a town of local talent entertainments in contrast to high-priced performers from away might have been stressed by the contemporary as an argument in favor of local talent performances. However, lest one should get provincial, it is wise to hire the entertainers from away now and then.

Bring in Your Boys and Girls

If the bank is a mysterious place to them we would like to help clear away the mystery. Our officers are always happy to meet the youngsters. The wise mother realizes her children cannot learn habits of thrift and the value of money too young. The wise father knows that an early understanding of the many uses of a bank will always be valuable to his son. Bring the young folks in.

CURRENT COMMENT

Praise for Judge Miles.

The state press are noting with expressions of regret that Supreme Court Judge W. W. Miles of Barton is not to be a candidate for re-election again, as announced in his home paper last week. Judge Miles was appointed to the superior court bench by Gov. C. J. Bell in 1905 and by virtue of tenure of office and ability has advanced to a position of prominence in the state's highest judicial tribunal. As Barton's first citizen and as one of the county's most learned and distinguished citizens this paper congratulates Judge Miles on his decision to retire from active duties and spend his remaining years in quiet and peace among his friends and with his family. Judge Miles' 77 years rest lightly upon his shoulders, due to his rugged constitution, temperate life and love for the out-of-doors, the fox hunt being one of his favorite recreations. Our holiday wish for Mr. Miles is a long season of restful years for the enjoyment of his well earned respite from labors, filled with pleasant memories of his "yesterdays" of achievement.—Newport Express and Standard.

Have You Rubbers for Those Slushy Days?

January thaws come around just as regularly as May flowers, only they're not nearly so pleasant—very disagreeable in fact, but a sound pair of Rubbers to keep your feet dry are a great help over the difficulty. These rubbers in styles to fit all shoes, for every member of the family, are of extra quality with corrugated soles that minimize slipping.
